Score (1-5): 4.5
Comments: Good indentation, meaningful names are present. CI/CD pipeline in place and a good amount of diagrams makes this project a good contender. Code doesn't have much comments though.

- ☑ ~~Does it seem polished?~~
  - ☑ ~~Intuitive to use? Complicated and unfriendly?~~
  - ☑ ~~Responsive? Janky?~~
  - ☐ Bugs everywhere?
  - ☑ ~~Pleasing UI? Hard to look at?~~
  - ☐ Accessibility options?

Score (1-5): 4.5
Comments: Fairly intuitive, not too complicated but does have a lot more going in than the other apps which I personally think is a plus. Very responsive, needs more recipes though.The UI is pleasing as well. Not sure about accessibility options, didn't really see much on that.

Self Considerations

- ☐ What tools and frameworks are used? Are they difficult to pick up?
- ☐ At a glance:
  - ☐ Would this project be fun to work on?

☐ How much more could we improve this project?
☐ Do we have team members familiar with specific tools/dependencies used?

Score (1-5, will be discounted by 50%): 5
Comments: Tools and frameworks: uses typical tools used in powell's previous CSE 110 class. As I've taken CSE 110 with powell, this will be comfortable for me to work on. I think this would be a fun project and I think there is much to improve on such as expanding the search/adding more recipes, perhaps creating user profiles with sign ins and being able to share recipes between users. Adding accessibility options would also be a great idea.
